A vote was taken, but before the result was announced Judge Wear ordered the case to be transferred to Iron county, and the prisoner was sent here to await the October term of our circuit court. Last Monday Sheriff Turner of Butler county came here, with an order from Judge Wear for the prisoner, who it seems will be tried in Butler county, under a new ruling of the Judge. The officials of that county quashed the old indictment, procured another and the case will now come up de novo. There was some question as to whether the jailor here could give up his prisoner, under the circumstances, but he finally let Sheriff Turner take him. There appears to be a fine chance for a first-class muddle in this case, but we don't care to comment just now.

In another part of this paper we reproduce an article entitled, "No Tampering with the Verdict of the People." The conclusions of the writer are drawn from correct premises, and his argument is incontrovertible. The people last fall did vote to "turn the rascals out." We defy any man to produce a single Democrat in Iron county, in the State of Missouri, or in the United States, who did not vote for "a change," and a change with the voters meant then and now means, the displacement of the rank and file of the Republican officials—not merely a change in a few of the leading offices. If the voters last fall had believed that the election of Grover Cleveland meant only a Democratic President and Cabinet, hundreds of thousands of them would have not taken the trouble nor spared the time to go to the polls. No, sir! They want the "change" made manifest at home -in the offices with which they have directshoulder. A Letter From Belleview. "When the cat is away, the mice will play." Having occasion to "go West young man nd grow up with the country," as soon as it was known that my watchful care was withlrawn, and that Bro. Warren was also absent, Belleview at once fell into sundry and divers forms of cussedness. Among other iniquities a report was sent to the REGISTER that I was going to Black River monthly to see my girl. That was outrageous. 1 wonder where such people will die when they go to? the evidence? As the high moral character of the REGIS-TER demands that its representative should be like Caesar's wife, above suspicion, an explanation is in order. A piece of very sweet music was introduced into Belleview. A beautiful young lady enquired through a friend whether I had the music. She was told that it would give me great pleasure to obtain it for her. It was necessary to go to Black River to obtain the music, and anxiety to discharge the trust promptly hastened my departure somewhat. As the young lady is favorably known in Reynolds county, the from Knoble and all intermediate stations to fact that I had a commission from her gave me admission to the best society, and made everyone anxious to aid me. The music was very promptly obtained, and I returned to Iron county, where I spent two Sabbaths and the week between assisting at two meetings of an excellent Bible class, and preaching three sermons, visiting among kind friends, refreshing old friendships, and forming very pleasant new ones. Then I returned to Reydolds county, and spent the following week dividing the time among the families of Ed. Register.—The protracted "dry spell" Messrs.
